The New Survey _____

Unfortunately, it seems the government has not mandated free education for all senior citizens. However, from our research we are finding a trove of free and low-cost education opportunities for seniors does in fact exist all across America. As with so many other social improvements to be found via government, it happens at the state level.

Virginia - The first state we found mandating free education for seniors is Virginia. The Senior Citizens Higher Education Act of 1974 entitles any citizen of the Commonwealth of Virginia who is
